

Due to a family medical emergency, Chief John Salka has had to cancel his class. Firenuggets is extremely proud and honored to present nationally renowned author, lecturer, and chief officer, Mike Smith, Deputy Chief (ret), DCFD.

Firenuggets.com

PRESENTS

Deputy Chief Mike Smith

District of Columbia Fire Department

“Commanding Fire Scenes Safely”

This interactive class will examine real case studies where system, behavior, and command failures led directly to the deaths of personnel. The class will offer information and methods for commanding a safe and effective fire ground.

LOCATION	COST	DATE and TIME
Carr Convention Center 4400 Rosewood Drive Pleasanton, CA 94588	$110	Thursday, November 4, 2010 0900-1600

Mike Smith is a Deputy Fire Chief, retired, from the District of Columbia Fire Department. He served for over 31 years in all ranks but primarily in truck companies. He is an adjunct instructor at the National Fire Academy and a graduate of the Executive Fire Officer Program. He is an NFA and Certified Municipal Manager, George Washington University. Chief Smith is the author of the book Building Construction- Methods and Materials-for the Fire service, Brady 2007 1st edition and worked for 25 years in building construction industry as a journeyman carpenter, foreman, and superintendent. He is currently a consultant and instructor for emergency management, building construction, and Fire Command and serves with FEMA as Operations Section Chief and Deputy Federal Coordinating Officer.

Registration cost includes lunch and certificate. Go to www.firenuggets.com for registration and more detailed information.